

Reworking Work Together

The Greek philosopher Heraclitus said, "Change is the only constant in life." We are in an incredibly exciting and dynamic time when seismic shifts are occurring to the way we live and work. During this time of great change, employers and employees will need to learn how to rework work together.

How Will Work Change 10 to 15 Years From Now?

New Technologies

The coronavirus pandemic pushed the fast-forward button and created more need for new tech.

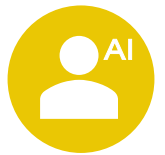

Digitalization And Digitization

Digital information allows for greater agility, lower costs and increased performance.

Automation

Automation will take the place of low-skill, low-paying jobs and create more opportunities for reskilling.

Artificial Intelligence

Robots and humanbots will continue to evolve and specialize.

Top 5 Trends To Track

1. Flexible Work Schedules

Employees are seeking employers who offer flexibility.

2. Shorter Workweeks

Large trials of 4-day workweeks have shown positive results.

3. A Boundaryless Workforce

Employers can tap into a much broader talent pool.

4. Emerging Technologies

Artificial intelligence, robotics, automation, smart factories, 3D printing, autonomous vehicles and drones are driving innovation.

5. Supply Chain Restructuring

Eliminating vulnerabilities is necessary to prevent future disruptions.
